About

Now returning to the profession after a long career diversion, Stewart originally trained at Bretton Hall College and performed and produced professionally for 5 years in theatre and TV (under his legal name, Ben Green) before becoming an agent. This was followed by an impressive 20-year stint at the BBC: not only in production (development and producing), but as Head of Rights Business Development where he led the rights negotiation strategy and implementation for BBC iPlayer, BBC Store, and countless archive projects. In June 2019 he was accepted as a BAFTA member, and since September has been re-honing his acting skills at The Actor's Café, Watford, a performance workshop with Punchdrunk Theatre, London, and 'Screen Acting' course with James Larkin.
